McLeod, July 17.

A section man named Wilson was found dead about 5 p.m. on the 16th in a coal shed. He committed suicide by taking strychnine on bread and butter which he had evidently put in his pockets for the purpose. The bottle was found in the shed under a lump of coal yesterday. The jury decided that Wilson deliberately committed suicide by taking strychnine on account of domestic trouble. The body was buried this evening in the McLeod cemetery. Deceased leaves a wife and family in the old country.

LOCAL.

P. HEMMING, went to Calgary on Tuesday's train.

M. McKENZIE, of Haultain and McKenzie, barristers of McLeod, visited Edmonton on Monday's train.

Prince Albert Advocate: Messdames Sargent, Pritchard, Parker and Matheson returned from a pleasure trip to Edmonton on Thursday.

J. H. KELLY and J. R. Brenton have built two large flat boats at Fraser & Co.'s landing and loaded them with grain for Battleford. They will start down the river to-day or to-morrow.

D. Ross made two shipments of fresh vegetables to Calgary on Tuesday's and Thursday's trains. The vegetables included cabbages, potatoes, peas, turnips, beets, radishes, etc. The rate of freight is 68 cts. per hundred pounds in boxes.

Calgary Herald: A farewell social was given to the Rev. G. W. Dean and Mrs. Dean of the Methodist church on Wednesday evening. Music was furnished by the Calgary orchestra and during the evening Mr. A. L. Sifton on behalf of the congregation presented Mr. Dean with a complete set of the International Encyclopedia, which was suitably and feelingly acknowledged. Mr. Dean and family left for Edmonton on yesterday's train, a number of ladies and gentlemen being at the depot to bid them good-bye.

Calgary Herald: The wave of immigration into Northern Alberta has by no means come to an end yet for this season. Last Monday's train for the north took up 127 settlers, 98 of whom went all the way to Edmonton, the remainder being distributed among the stations along the road. There were six carloads of settlers' effects on the train, four being from the States and two from Manitoba, of which three went to Wetaskiwin, two to Edmonton and one to Red Deer.

T. W. LINES returned from a business trip to Vancouver on Monday's train. His mission was one of enquiry as well as of business. He found that a great demand existed in the coast cities for such products as Edmonton has to offer, but paid most attention to the market for oats. He found that the competition from the states of Washington and Oregon was such as to require a further reduction in C. P. R. rates to the coast if Edmonton is to do any business there and farmers are to have living prices. The distance is so short and the rates of transportation so low, there being ample competition, that both freight and duty on Washington grain does not amount to more than the freight alone from Edmonton. Vancouver and New Westminster are better markets for Edmonton produce than Victoria because the latter place has even cheaper transportation from Puget Sound ports than the two former, and besides it costs more to reach Victoria from Edmonton. Had the C. P. R. not reduced their rates last winter it would have been impossible at the present time to sell Edmonton grain at the coast, and even now it is a very difficult matter, although Mr. Lines was successful in making a number of sales. The keen competition from Washington, as to quantity, price and quality makes it necessary that only good grain should be shipped and that still lower railway rates be secured. The floods have kept back the seeding in the Fraser river country so that grain was being sown in the latter end of June on land that had been flooded. Some parts of the valley were still flooded.

THE H. B. steamer Athabasca left the landing for Grand Rapids on July 13th.

NEARLY 3,000 settlers have come into Northern Alberta this year to date.

The supplementary estimates contain an item of $3,779 for Edmonton crown land office.

H. WILSON, general merchant, South Edmonton, advertises that he is selling out to go into the commission business.

MONDAY'S train brought two cars of cows and horses from the same place.

A YOUNG ground hog was caught alive to-day in front of J. A. McDougall's store. It had been lamed by a wagon running over one of its legs.

W. VOGEL, of White Mud settlement, brought in a stool of barley in head last week which carried 34 heads. The straw was four feet long. He also brought in a bunch of flax measuring 30 inches in height.

REPORTED that the recent hot dry weather has seriously injured crops in Southern Alberta which looked very promising a few weeks ago, having received abundant moisture early in the season.

MONDAY'S train brought 47 settlers north from Calgary. 7 for Red Deer, 12 for Lacombe, 10 for Wetaskiwin and 13 for Edmonton. Of these 28 were from the United States, 10 from England and the remainder from the Eastern provinces.

THE Winnipeg exhibition excursion tickets will be sold to-morrow and Tuesday next, good until the 31st, at $22 for the round trip. This is very little more than half the regular single fare from Edmonton to Winnipeg.

The MacLeod Sentinel is the latest addition to the newspapers of the Territories. It is a new and well printed sheet. D. H. Murphy of the late lamented Red Deer Review, is editor and proprietor. Two newspapers in MacLeod leaves very little standing room.

MACLEOD Gazette: A party of settlers from Montana went through town yesterday on their way to the Edmonton country. A large number of incoming settlers are reported from the boundary line en route from Washington Territory to the Edmonton district.

A MEETING of the council of the Edmonton board of trade was held on Tuesday evening and some important business was transacted. The general quarterly meeting of the board will be held on Tuesday evening next in the council chamber at 8 p.m., when it is expected that the question of railway rates will receive a thorough discussion.

A PUBLIC meeting was held at Leduc on Monday last for the purpose of organizing a statute labor and fire district. Thomas Stamp chairman. An executive committee was appointed of which E. L. Byles was chairman, N. B. Heath secretary and N. Vincent treasurer. It was decided to form townships 49 and 50 in ranges 25 and 26 into a statute labor and fire district.

J. R. TURNBULL, secretary of the Edmonton Agricultural Society received a letter by last mail dated Ottawa, July 9th, from Prof. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner, in which he says: "I hope to be able to visit the Edmonton district some time during the present year, or at least to send one of our travelling dairies there. When the details of a programme have been arranged, I will send you word."

SASKATCHEWAN L. O. L. held their first picnic and inauguration of the new lodge on the 12th inst. The picnic was a success in every particular. About 200 people were present. Refreshments were served by the ladies on the grounds at the race track and everything was arranged for a good time. The chairman, T. G. Pearce, opened the proceedings by an address. A speech on the subject of Orangism by Rev. Mr. Anderson followed and then an appropriate address by Rev. Mr. Wilshire. In the evening a dance was given in the hall with a most enjoyable time.

News was received yesterday of the death at Indian Head on the same morning of Malcolm McLeod, of Edmonton, who went east on a visit to friends in Regina, Indian Head and Wolsley some weeks ago. His health had been very poor for some time and it was hoped the change would do him good. He was understood to be progressing favorably until the news of his death was received. He was a brother of Alex. Angus and James McLeod and of Mrs. Murdoch McLeod and Mrs. T. G. Ross of this district. He leaves a wife and several children. The deceased came to Edmonton from Wolsley, Assa., in 1886, and three years ago became a partner in the firm of Fraser & Co., of the Edmonton Mills. The body will be interred at Regina, where a sister, Mrs. Belcher, wife of Inspector Belcher, resides.

The entertainment given by the children of St. Albert school on Friday evening last was extremely interesting from many points of view. In the first place it bore striking testimony to the efficiency, zeal and success with which the Sisters of Charity are carrying on their work of love among the children of all classes. It is not an education in itself to be able to talk English and French and Cree with equal fluency? Some of the children can do this. Very many of them can speak both English and French. Then again the neatness of their dress, their good acting, their good manners, their clear and distinct way of speaking, showed how much they had learned that could only be learned from teachers and not from books. More than 150 children were present. The school band reflected much credit upon the leader, Joe Varin. The numerous prizes, most tastefully arranged, were exhibited in full view, and were distributed with unerring accuracy by the Rev. Sister Dillon. A silver cup, given by Chas. de Cazes, was awarded to Albert Chevigny for general proficiency. A silver watch, also given by Mr. de Cazes, was won in the same way by Miss Jane Maloney. After the distribution of prizes the Superior General spoke in French, expressing his gratification at the very kind reception given him, and his surprise at finding so far north a school of such excellence. At the close of his speech all joined heartily in singing God save the Queen.—Com.

SCHOOL SITE AND FERRY ROAD.

Judging by the large attendance and excited discussion at the public meeting of Saturday night last a creditable amount of interest has been aroused in town over two very important questions, namely, the site and proposed erection of a new public school building and the opening of a right of way from Jasper avenue to the river, at the lower ferry. In regard to the school matter, it is generally admitted that further school accommodation is needed. At the present time the school district is paying $50 a month rent for the use of a building that is already becoming over-crowded. This means that either another building must be rented or a new building erected. As the town is here to stay and as long as it stays will require school accommodation, it would seem to be a better policy, in the case of private individuals, to build rather than rent. If it is decided to build then comes the question of location and cost of building. These two questions depend one upon the other to a certain degree. If a cheap—that is a small—building is proposed it should be located where it will be most convenient for the limited number of children who are likely to attend it. If a more expensive, larger—building is proposed, it should be located so as to best accommodate the larger number of children who are expected to attend it. The present public school buildings are far west of the present centre of population. This being the case that site is scarcely suitable for the principal school of the town, nor are the buildings of such a character as can be considered satisfactory for the purposes of a high school or a normal school such as the progress of the surrounding country requires shall be established somewhere in this district. The conclusion arrived at by the board of trustees was to erect a slightly and permanent building which would give that enlarged and improved accommodation which the growing needs of the town and district require and at the same time would be so located as to give every reasonable facility for attendance by the pupils now occupying the rented building, and at the same time be suitable for the accommodation of the higher and normal classes which must soon be established in this region either here or elsewhere. The matter of a few hundred yards either one way or the other makes very little practical difference in the matter of a school site, as far as the children are concerned. The nature and area of the site itself are far more important. With a view of securing the best site possible, three lots, as possible, and at the same time protecting the taxpayers of the district in the matter of price, the trustees advertised for offers for a school site. "On river lots 6, 8, 10, 12 or 14, not to exceed three lots and up to eight. Price per lot to be stated." This was fair and full notice to the public as well as to interested property owners as to the intentions of the board. A number of offers were received, and careful examination was made of the several sites, and the decision was finally given in favor of the one which offers the largest area for the least money, while at the same time being smooth, dry, centrally situated and not far from Main street. As soon as this offer was closed with a new offer was made of an equal area of land at a somewhat higher price by one of the parties whose offer had been rejected because the area of his first offer had not been considered sufficient for the purpose required. Several members of the board were desirous of making the change, believing it to be in the best interests of the town, but as there appeared to be legal difficulties in the way, and that site did not appear to be any more satisfactory to the public mind than the one already chosen, it was thought advisable to hold by the first site and place the matter at the decision of the taxpayers, when the vote on the necessary debentures comes to be taken. If Edmonton is to hold its lead in educational matters it must provide suitable school accommodation. It can only do this by expending its money wisely, and if the ratepayers will not spend the money they cannot have the business and educational advantages which the location of a public school would give to the district would secure.

The question of securing a thoroughly practicable right of way from the business centre of the town on Jasper avenue to the river at the lower ferry landing assumes very great importance at the present time, and by reason of the necessity for an early decision by the Dominion government as to the site of the proposed traffic bridge. There is every reason to believe that at least a share will be made of cost with the bridge at once. Before the bridge can be gone on with—before the final plans can be drawn and the final estimate of cost made—the site must be definitely fixed. Every one knows where the business interests of this town require that the bridge should be located, namely some place near the lower ferry landing, and every one knows that a share of cost has been and will be brought to bear to have it located elsewhere, at a point where it would be of the least possible benefit to the present business interests of the town. When the government engineer was at Edmonton making the preliminary surveys for the bridge, while admitting that the site at the lower ferry was just as good as could be got, he objected that no right of way existed to it as to the other site which he selected, and it was only after strong representations on the subject that a full report was given on the site. When the government engineer came to the town council took certain action which at the time seemed likely to secure a right of way to the point desired by way of an extension of McDougall street across Jasper avenue to the brow of the hill. Circumstances have since occurred which make it likely—or as far as the present moment is concerned—that this site can only be secured by expensive expropriation proceedings and inordinate delay. This condition of affairs has been brought about by the action of the owners of river lots six and eight, both of whom are now in possession of the land in order to reach the river at the lower ferry. As a condition of allowing the road to cross their properties the Methodist Mission demands the extension of McDougall street as already arranged for by the Council and David McDougall demands the extension of Queen street. Very many citizens are thoroughly impressed with the belief that the public as represented by the town are entitled to a free right of way across these properties by reason of long usage of the trail which it is desired to follow. This may be quite true, but would hardly be considered sufficient justification for the government for the location of a $50,000 bridge at a point, even if no pressure was brought to bear to have it located elsewhere. The sum of the matter is that this town imperatively needs to put itself in position at once to secure the location of the bridge at the point at which the business interests of the town require that it shall be placed and it cannot afford to await the outcome of expropriation proceedings or lawsuits in order to do this, provided any other reasonable means can be found. It appears from the explanations and counter explanations made at the public meeting that an immediate and definite settlement can be reached by the extension of Queen street as it is proposed by McDougall, and if the street to the river bank. This would entail an expense of about $5,000 on the town, and of course if this expense could be secured it would be very desirable but it does not appear from the present course of events that, at best, a large part of that expense can be avoided. The expropriation costs and legal expenses necessary to open McDougall street alone would go a long way towards, if not fully pay, the price asked for the opening of Queen street. In reckoning the cost of opening Queen street the fact cannot be ignored that to fail to establish it as a street which has always been and still is used as a most important street, and what is by some legal authorities held to be actually a legal street, would be a grave injury to a very large part of the business portion of the town. If it can be established as a street by legal process well and good, but unless that is assured and a limit of cost assured as well, it would probably be the best policy at the present time, in order to secure a prompt and complete settlement of the whole matter, to accede to the demand made if no better terms can be secured. In Edmonton within the past two years we have had plain evidence of the damage that unsettled legal proceedings have been to property concerned, and we should not wish to repeat the experience.

GREAT RECEPTION.
The Oblate Fathers of the Northwest have been favored with a visit from their General Superior, The Right Rev. Father Soulier and his assistant, Very Rev. Father Antoine. This favor is indeed an exceptional one, for although the Oblates are in America since over half a century, yet it had been impossible for their Venerable Founder, Mgr. de Mazenod or his successor to visit them in person. On Thursday the 12th inst. St. Albert put on a holiday appearance to welcome for the first time the illustrious Superior General of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Much noble enthusiasm was excited in the hearts of the people by this propitious event, each seemed to vie with the other in testifying their gratitude and affection for the devoted priests who have toiled so long and faithfully for their welfare. Flags, British, French, American. The papal colors, &c., were flying from every mast, from most of the private buildings and from the Catholic institutions which crown the hill. Triumphant arches were erected along the line of route from Edmonton to the palace, and were gaily decorated with flags, oriflammes, &c., each bearing some special greeting. "welcome" "bienvenue" being conspicuous. At 9.30 a. m., the joyous peals of the Cathedral chime, the firing of rockets and the distant though clearly heard sounds of the St. Albert band, told that the visitors were near. Soon the clouds of dust, the rolling of carriages and the ceaseless tramping of horses' feet confirmed the tidings. The Rev. Fathers and Brothers who had assembled from all possible points of their respective missions, to greet their Father General, descended the steps leading to the garden and there awaited the arrival of the distinguished guests. The visitors were accompanied by His Lordship Bishop Grandin, Rev. Fathers Ledue, Lacombe, &c., and escorted by the citizens of St. Albert in buggies and carriages and a goodly number of horsemen; the members of the St. Albert band played some very lively airs, and on this occasion, as on all others, were a credit to their devoted leader, Mr. J. Varin. At the palace addresses were presented to the Superior General and his assistant, Prince, M. L. A. read an address in French on behalf of the French speaking part of the population and D. Maloney, in English on behalf of the English speaking portion. The addresses were beautifully illuminated and were truly emblematic of the gratitude and affection of the St. Albert people for their devoted Oblate Fathers. The following is the English address: To the Right Rev. Louis Soulier, General Superior of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. Right Rev. Father General:—It is with the most profound feelings of respect and admiration that we the English speaking Catholics of St. Albert assemble to wish you and Very Rev. Father Antoine a thrice happy welcome. Having the honor of saluting in your person the illustrious Superior General of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate we feel it our bounden duty to express the high appreciation we entertain for these great and noble missionaries. Yes, the Oblates are dear to the hearts of all Roman Catholics of this vast Northwest! How long and faithfully have they not labored? How patiently have they not worked to overcome the many obstacles which strewed their path? Through long years of trial and suffering they have devoted themselves to the spread of the Christian Faith and that their labors have not been in vain is eloquently proved by the spiritual conditions of the mission of evangelization confided to them. They have worked, forgotten of all life's comforts, on the prairies, as well as in the thick forests of the north and they have proved by their heroic deeds of sacrifice that our snow covered plains may still be fructified by the blood of martyrs. To-day, Right Rev. Father, you have the consolation of visiting the flourishing settlement of St. Albert, the episcopal see of the Right Rev. Vital Grandin, who has been sprung up with a rapidity the rare qualities of mind and heart of our saintly Bishop. The progress of the diocese, under his wise guidance, inspires gratification and astonishment; parishes, churches and schools have sprung up with a rapidity which recalls the history of the spread of the true faith in the early age of the Christian Church. A happy prosperous people surrounds you, desirous to proclaim that their happiness and prosperity are entirely due to the abnegation, self-sacrifice and generosity of your devoted sons. Nor are these the only benefits derived from the Oblates. Our rights in the sacred cause of education have been magnified by the great, illustrious and deeply regretted Archbishop of St. Boniface, who passed from among us, with arms still in hand, defending the cause so dear to our hearts. We admire so less the public efforts of our worthy Father Ledue, and we trust and pray that night will yield to right, and that our devoted Oblates will soon receive the consolation of having fought the good fight and gained the final victory. That our gratitude is a duty as pleasing to us as sacred, is fully testified by the joy and gladness which overflows our hearts on this, the occasion of your thrice welcome visit. May the days you spend in our midst be replete with happiness. We can assure you that the memory of your visit to St. Albert will be perpetuated during many years, for we shall not allow the lapse of time to efface from our memories all our obligations to your devoted order. Yes the members of your congregation will be ever loved, blessed and respected amongst us, and amongst those who come after us.

LIQUOR AT THE DOMINION DAY CELEBRATIONS.

EDITOR BULLETIN:

DEAR SIR: Please grant me again the privilege of your columns to express myself upon a subject that is at present talked of and thought about by many of your readers, viz: the sale of liquors at the Dominion day celebration, in Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan.

In your issue of the 12th inst., there appeared a letter of interest, to me at least, from Mr. George Purches, license inspector for the Edmonton district, in answer to a communication in your issue of July 9th, signed "Wonderer." The "Wonderer" had wondered whether we had a license inspector, and if so, whether he noticed any violations of the liquor ordinance on July 2nd at Edmonton. Mr. Purches announces that he is the inspector in question and that he "personally" saw no infringement of the liquor ordinance on that day.

Mr. Editor, kindly allow me to insert just here, for the accommodation of your readers, a copy of section 79 of the liquor license ordinance of 1892, the law which governs the matter before us.

"Upon the application of any society, or incorporated club or racing association, the Chief Inspector may in his discretion grant a permit to any licensee under this ordinance to sell, by retail, for any period not exceeding six (6) days, ale or lager beer, but not spirits, in a covered booth or tent upon grounds occupied by any such society, association or club for the time being for the purpose of holding meetings for the encouragement of manly sports and exercises, or for the purpose of holding racing or trotting matches, provided that said meeting is held within a staked or fenced enclosure and does not include any licensed premises within the limits of such enclosure. The licensee to whom any such permit may be granted shall pay therefor a fee of ten dollars to the officer referred to as appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council for each day covered by the permit, and shall be liable to the provisions of this Ordinance as if selling in his own licensed premises; provided always that an Inspector of the district shall approve of the location of the tent or booth in which such liquors may be sold under such permit."

Now I wish to discuss this section and its bearing upon the question, briefly, in a general, and in what seems to me, at least, a common sense manner; as any honest farmer would be liable to construe and understand it, if he had no knowledge of technical law quibbles.

First then, we find that "Upon the application of any society or incorporated club or racing association, the Chief Inspector may in his discretion grant, etc.", and the query presents itself, did such organization exist at Edmonton, within the meaning of the law? As Mr. Purches evidently views it, there certainly did, else he would have informed the Chief Inspector that it did not.

But, a meeting of citizens called by Tom, Dick and Harry, without incorporation, constitution or anything in common with the ordinarily accepted "society," save a name, and officers (for the day); a meeting that arranges for the celebration and then sinks into oblivion until the following July, when Tom, Dick and Harry again call citizens together and arrange sports. Such, as far as I can learn from reliable sources, is the extent of the "society" organization, which apparently secured licenses on July 2nd last in Edmonton. Have I been misinformed or do all parties implicated consider such sufficient? But granting that the said "society" was good under the ordinance; it is stated on good authority that the "society" gave no authority to anyone in their behalf to make application for permits to sell liquors, and if such were granted the Chief License Inspector was either misinformed or wilfully exceeded his authority. Mr. Purches should know how this matter stands and whether or not there was infringement of the ordinance.

Passing on to the centre of the section we find food for thought and "wonder." We read: "provided that such meeting"—meeting of the society—"is held within a staked or fenced enclosure." Did anybody see that "staked or fenced enclosure" in which the meeting of the so-called "society" met? Did Mr. Purches see it? The only enclosure that the writer could discern was that formed by the blue canopy of heaven with the horizon, which if considered would make the permits void since all the licensed saloons in town were within it. Did not keep the cows off the track as the sad fate of Mr. Laurier proves. But Mr. Purches probably wishes to draw my attention, and that of the public to the ropes and stakes that partially enclosed some of the booths and tents. We saw them; but by any reasonable interpretation of the English language can it be said that the meeting of the "society" for its sports took place within the said enclosure—I mean partial enclosure? In all probability a few members of the so-called "society" were at times within, and perhaps when Mr. Purches found some within said partial enclosure he surmised that all members were there, most of the spectators, and hence the "meeting." After a horse race when the boys went to treat on the result he would probably and did find a good many there, but, thank Heaven not all, not half. The writer saw one high board fence about 14x16 or so, which looked to be an actual and bona fide enclosure, for the sale of drinks (as the wet moustaches and bleary eyes that came from behind attested).

Had the ordinance said that the "meeting" be held "around" a staked or fenced enclosure, the matter would stand in a different light.

I do not doubt the licensees paid their $10 apiece for permits, if such were granted, and little doubt but that they cleared a handsome profit. The boys were thirsty that day, but not so much so as last year.

"Provided always that an inspector of the district shall approve of the location of the tent or booth in which such liquors may be sold under such permit." Oh! here is where the inspector figures. Is that you Mr. Purches? You approved of the location of the tents, booths, etc.? You considered that the ordinance was complied with in all particulars as your duties as inspector required? We need not ask you, however, as in your letter you stated that you personally saw no infringement of the liquor ordinance.

Mr. Purches informs the "Wonderer" in his letter of Monday last that his duties as inspector have never been neglected. He believes that the ordinance was complied with and hence did not see fit to obstruct the permits granted.

It seems only reasonable under the circumstances that Inspector Purches should explain to the satisfaction of the public his interpretation of section 79, and tell us what his duties are in this particular. Otherwise it would appear to many that he has neglected his duty and thinks that a large number of citizens are such a company of ninnyes, drove of asses or pack of fools that they don't know when their laws are infringed. If they have come to wrong conclusions about the law and the duties of the inspector they wish to be better informed and fools no longer.

Has Mr. Purches jurisdiction in Fort Saskatchewan? He tells us in his letter that he is at all times to be found in Edmonton. It is a fact—if telegrams don't lie—that no permits were granted at Fort Saskatchewan on the 29th June last. The writer was in Edmonton that day, too, but he heard that there was an awful lot of drinking done on the grounds at the Fort that day. Probably it was not so.

Some one asks, why all this ado over a paltry breach, or supposed breach of the ordinance. Friend, this is the reason: With our liquor laws executed to the utmost, drunkenness and debauchery are too prevalent. It is believed that if law had been enforced in the manner herein set out, drunkenness would have been reduced 50 per cent., and if complied with, that is, if a bona fide enclosure had existed within the meaning of the ordinance, the liquor men would have made nearly as much money—which they were after—entrance fees would have paid the cost of enclosure, and T. G. Laurier would not have received injuries from which he now suffers, as no cows would be admitted. I believe that to-day Mr. Laurier has a good cause of action for damages against the "society."

Mr. Purches requested in his letter that "Wonderer" give the names of those whom he saw break the liquor ordinance. He will see that his objection has been to the granting and continuing of all permits. Mr. Purches can, perhaps, not be held accountable for the granting of the permits, but surely for their continuance. Mr. Purches knows or ought to know better than anyone else who received permits, hence no names are necessary. "Wonderer" concurs with Inspector Purches in the belief that every citizen should assist in carrying out the laws, and is ready and willing at all times, whether in an action brought along the lines herein laid down or otherwise, to appear on the witness stand and swear to the truth of all he knows in the matter, without the service of a subpoena.

The Inspector requests "Wonderer" to write over his own signature, which he most cheerfully does, and regrets that some of his friends have been branded "sneak" in atonement for his sins.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this too much space in your estimable paper,

I remain, yours truly,
J. HAMILTON McDONALD.
